SELF LUNCH PART OF STATEWIDE TOUR

This year's Bill Self lunch (as well as last year's) is part of a statewide tour by Coach Self set up by the KU Athletic Department. Although TJC is a sponsor of the event, TJC had no control over ticket prices so was unable to offer a membership discount. The board is in discussions on how to provide the membership some sort of consideration in place of the discount. Other stops on the Self tour include Wichita, co-sponsored by the Wichita Jayhawk Club.

GOOD TIMES AT TJC TAILGATE

About 140 TJC members chowed down on chili and hotdogs before the big Nebraska game. A group of the KU marching band stopped by to lead the crowd in fight songs. TJC presented the marching band with a donation of $1000 for its continuing efforts to improve its equipment. This year's band is up to 193 with more expected next year

BEAKS & TAILS

 Before the Nebraska game, Coach Don Fambrough, known for his rip-roaring historically (?) based anti-Mizzou stories, said he told the players during the week before the Nebraska game, "You know, I was mistaken. I found out Quantrill was not from Missouri. He was from Nebraska." Afterward, an emotional Fambrough, his eyes filled with tears, called it, "the greatest football game I've ever seen. They'll be dancing in the streets of Lawrence. I'll be leading them."

 Remember Paige Laurie, the Wal-mart heiress who cheated her way through USC but had the Missouri basketball arena named after her? Her name has been taken off the basketball arena, but her name still lives on at Mizzou with the E. Paige Laurie Professor of Equine Lameness in the College of Veterinary Medicine. The whole incident seems more than a bit lame to some of us.

 Your crimson and blue-blood editor sends best wishes to retiring KSU Coach Bill Snyder for a job well done (actually, too well done, in your editor's opinion)

 Wonder if they'll rename Mizzou Arena the Quin Snyder Family Arena when he retires...maybe soon?

 Over 350 gathered at the Holidome November 15 to honor Shawnee County high school seniors placing in the top 10% of their classes. The event is a longstanding tradition of the KU Alumni Association, and TJC helps with the event.
