Topeka Jayhawk Club

Volume 14 Issue 04

July 2014

Lindsey Huss First Scholarship Winner.

Topeka Jayhawk Club is pleased to announce award of a $500 scholarship to KU student, Lindsey Huss. Lindsey will be a sophomore who describes herself as a Jayhawk since birth. She's planning to apply to the KU business school after finishing her core classes. She'll be looking for internship opportunities the summer between her junior and senior years. Lindsey is the daughter of TJC member Jeff Huss. Congratulations. TJC is pleased to use its dues money to give benefits back to the membership. We've included two pictures of Lindsey, one current and one from an early visit to a TJC function.

Time To Get On The Bandwagon!

Some of you may remember that Cecil and Anna Baker kindly drove their Midwestern Music bandwagon for us in the St. Pat's parade a number of years ago for several parades. Herschel Stroud and the TJC band looked super on the circus-like wagon.

With Cecil's recent passing, an estate auction was held recently, and TJC bought the bandwagon! We spent $3000 of treasury funds (a sizeable chunk of the balance) and have pledges from members for another $800. That leaves us $200 short of the $4000 paid at auction. We also now have anticipated one-time expenses for rewiring the trailer and painting it with a cool Jayhawk motif. We've tentatively decided not to paint it until we have money in hand from extra donations, so please consider helping with this special project. Checks can be made payable to Topeka Jayhawk Club and sent to Box 67694, Topeka, KS 66667. Cecil and Anna built the bandwagon in 1964, so we're pleased to get it on its 50th birthday. Plans include a small plate attached to the wagon memorializing the Bakers and the date.

KU Day At The Topeka Zoo.

Don't miss the local KU Ad Astra chapter's KU Day at the Topeka Zoo, 11:30 am, Sunday, July 20 at the Big Gage Shelter House (at north edge of zoo parking lot) Zoo reps will discuss several animals including the baby tigers (we like Kansas born tigers) and spend some time discussing the species, "Jayhawk." Updates from the Hill will also be provided. Cost is $15 for KU alumni members and $25 for non-members. The public is invited. The cost includes lunch, photo opportunities with Baby Jay and ADMISSION to the ZOO through the special gate adjoining the shelter house. Those wishing to pre-pay can send checks to KU Alumni, 1266 Oread, Lawrence, KS 66045. Questions: trockers@kualumni.org or call 785-864-9778

Free Commercial For Cox Cable.

TJC doesn't endorse any particular TV provider, but your editor is very happy with his Cox service lately because of all the KU programming. Cox now offers on its Channels 22 and/or 122 or digital 2022 (usually weather radar etc.) various sports programming including "Late Night at the Phog" shown live. KU home basketball game pre-shows and post-shows are televised along with the team/coach interviews heard on the KU radio network. You can listen to the interviews on the radio while driving home and then watch them on Cox. During the summer, Cox is airing "classic" KU basketball games. I've recently caught the Legends game, a couple of 1988 tournament games and the special hour presentation on "Danny & the Miracles" guaranteed to make any true fan weep at several points. Thank you, Cox.

Thanks, Pat Henderson.

Assistance KU Athletics Director Pat Henderson spent some time visiting with the June TJC board meeting which was open to all. A good crowd gathered at Henry T's to hear updates on stadium renovations and other KU sports topics. Pat always adds details missing from news stories, and his interest and support of TJC are always appreciated.
